User-friendliness

The system must be very easy to use and understand, so that it becomes easy to introduce to all the stake holders.

Up-to-date technology

The system must be as per the latest technology trends to get maximum benefits of the system. Old system might create problems in scalability and updates whereas latest technology can easily support new development.

Flexibility

The system must be flexible enough to manage the patterns followed by the school. It should be mix of customization and standard formats to give efficient results in operations. Completely static or completely dynamic doesn't work as both create challenges. However, mix of both can result into efficient usability.

Instant Support

The team behind the system is important which will give you support throughout your journey of using the system. Make sure you are choosing a good team which believe in strong customer centric work culture which is ready to support you in the process of adopting the system.
